FEEL IT

The experience of being immersed in nature.

The Aparados da Serra and Serra Geral National Parks are a refuge from nature in its purest state. The singing of the birds and the blowing of the winds set the tone. The morning dew on the virgin grass, the touch.

With a little luck, the light haze of clouds you can feel on your face will reveal or hide at every step a landscape that is all yours, sharpening your senses and putting you in real connection with nature. You'll be able to cycle and trails close to the edges, discovering places at every step.

Four charming towns and three visitation areas with UNIQUE LANDSCAPES

The Fortaleza, Itaimbezinho and Rio do Boi Canyons of the Aparados da Serra and Serra Geral National Parks are among the two southernmost states of Brazil: the gaúcho Cambará do Sul, at the top, Mampituba at the base, along with the Catarinenses Jacinto Machado and Praia Grande.

They are places that provide many experiences, know many places, hear many stories. But spectacular is the unique landscape of the canyons, capable of building a scenario to keep in mind.

Culture of well-being that can be experienced through typical mountain cuisine. From trout to pinion on the plate; from kettle coffee to floor fire. The discreet smile, the welcoming good morning. Simplicity hangs around here.

Preserved nature has VALUE

Urbia was born to value, care for and conserve historical and environmental heritage, while offering qualified leisure, entertainment and culture to all users. Supported by sustainable development to provide moments of immersion and harmony with nature, our dedication focuses on creating a better world with more diversity, inclusion and citizenship. When we won the concession of the visitation areas in the Aparados da Serra and Serra Geral National Parks for 30 years, we assumed the privilege of supporting ICMBio in its mission to take care of national biodiversity and also to be able to share this wonder of nature with everyone.
